
Counts in different panels have different units and are not comparable across panels.